CLIMATE RESILIENT HOMES AND COMMUNITIES FOR EUROPE - WORKING TOGETHER FOR A JUST TRANSITION

EBZ/EFL SUMMER SCHOOL FOR EARLY-CAREER HOUSING PROFESSIONALS

The challenge of climate resilient living:

Amidst increasingly frequent bouts of extreme weather, and pressure to meet decarbonisation targets, housing providers face multiple challenges in adapting their existing and new housing stock, but also in engaging residents in processes of green transformation that ultimately depend on their cooperation. Transitioning to a more climate resilient way of life also requires housing providers to keep up with financial innovations that capture the long-term benefits of energy efficient housing, and digital innovations in smart home and neighbourhood design.

Our collaborative programme:

From innovative ways to use green and blue infrastructure, to circularity and low-carbon solutions, to new forms of green debt finance, there are many ideas being tested within and beyond European social and affordable housing. For our 2022 summer school, we welcome you to Bochum to address the challenges that the climate crisis poses for the affordable housing sector. Interactive workshops with housing sector experts will support our international student teams to devise and present strategies for increasing the climate resilience of a real-life development. In addition to exploring the state of the art in construction through field visits, our students will gain an understanding of key issues for our sector such as social vulnerability to extreme weather events, and fuel poverty.

Our student-professionals:

Housing professionals from all backgrounds, including new starters and those with several years of experience are encouraged to join in and learn together across national borders. Our multidimensional team challenge will require diverse skills across tenant engagement, neighbourhood development, ICT, sustainable finance, policy and strategic planning, green and smart construction and urban development.

Our school:

We invite you to EBZ's business campus in Bochum to meet fellow housing professionals, build up your personal network, and explore nearby cities and housing developments. Four exciting, fun, and rewarding days await you!

Our partners:

The European Summer School is co-organised by EBZ Business School – University of Applied Sciences, EFL – the European Federation for Living, Housing Europe – the European Federation of Public, Cooperative and Social Housing, and the Housing Initiative for Eastern Europe IWO.

Learn from each other, share your ideas, and be part of Europe!

Participation fee:

The price of the summer school, inclusive of meals, field trips and accommodation, will be confirmed early in 2022. Members of the European Federation for Living enjoy a reduced price for any students they send.

Learn from each other, share your ideas, be part of Europe!
